

English for Journalists – The Little MOOC That Could

“English for Journalists” is sponsored by the U.S. Department of State, and developed in partnership with the Regional English Language Office in Central and Southeastern Europe, the Voice of America, and English language educators across Central and Eastern Europe. This course is being offered by UC Berkeley and edx.org as part of the U.S. Department of State’s MOOC Camp.

Part 1. English for Journalists: Key Concepts

<https://www.edx.org/course/english-journalists-key-concepts-uc-berkeleyx-colwri15-1x>
Opens April 12, 2016

Part 2. . English for Journalists: Free Speech and Media Trends

<https://www.edx.org/course/english-journalists-free-speech-media-uc-berkeleyx-colwri15-2x>
Opens May 17, 2016

Developer team members

Unit	Developer	email	Topic area
1	Beāte Kaupasa, Latvia	beate.kaupasa@gmail.com	The Job of the Journalist
2	Elena Smykovskaya, Belarus	e_smykovskaya@yahoo.co.uk	Ethics
3	Adisa Imamović, Bosnia & Herzegovina	adisaimamovic@hotmail.com	Inclusive Journalism
4	Timea Tiboldi, Hungary	drtiboldi@gmail.com	Local vs. Global Journalism
5	Meri Lazarevska, Macedonia	mlazarevska@gmail.com	Citizen Journalism
6	Yaroslava Fedoriv, Ukraine	yar.fed@gmail.com	Free Speech
7	Alexandru Cimpean-Oltean, Romania	alexandru.oltean@ubbcluj.ro	Humor/Satire
8	Denisa Kraľovičová, Slovakia	kralovicova.denisa10@gmail.com	Sports
9	Dragana Filipović, Serbia	dragana.filipovic@fpn.bg.ac.rs	Science & Technology
10	Fazli Rrezja, Kosovo	frrezja@gmail.com	Media Trends
	Maggie Sokolik, USA	sokolik@berkeley.edu	coordinator

Sponsors and Support

- George Chinnery, RELO, Regional English Language Office for Central and Southeastern Europe, US Embassy, Budapest, Hungary
- Gergo Santha, RELO Assistant, Regional English Language Office for Central and Southeastern Europe, U.S. Embassy, Budapest, Hungary
- Zsuzsanna Kozák and Ferenc Kurdi, Visual World Foundation, Budapest, Hungary
- Mark Young, Voice of America, USA